This is the last call on blankets and comfortables.

Prices have dropped with the thermometer.

Prices have dropped with the thermometer.

A flousekeeper will not have to reason long about the savings—blankets and comfortables to end the season with, to begin next fall with. The economies of this sale are evident from both viewpoints.

We merely list the reductions below, believing that most Atlanta women have come to know that at regular prices values are representative here, and therefore that the savings are genuine.

You will find that many of the blankets are a little soiled on the outer fold—not "dangerously;" the comfortables are fresh.

HONORING UNDERWOOD.

HONORING UNDERWOOL.
A graceful, just and politic attitude speaks in President Wilson's announcement that he will, on March 8, tender a dinner to Occar Underwood, of Alabamia, se a formal recognition of the Alabamian's spiendid leadership in the house. The Associated Press reports the dinner is to be one of the big affairs of the season, and that all the political notables are to be among those present.

Woodrow Wilson is due the major portion of the credit for the phenomenal success of the party's program. His political

But when he took hold last March his task was a delicate and a variegated one, one hardly matched in intricacy by floor leaders of any congress for twenty years.

Reports from Washington are to the effect that there is a temporary litch in the legislation program as it touches trust and rural credit legislation. THE BIBLE CONFERENCE.

THE BIBLE CONFERENCE.

It is likely that few people appreciate the importance and opportunities of the Atlanta Bible conference, now under full awing at the Baptist Taberace. Divince and Bible students of world-note are bere to elucidate all intricate scriptural subjects and Bible students of world-note are bere to elucidate all intricate scriptural subjects all demonitations, for the complexion of the conference is essentially non-denominational, or rather inter-denominational, or rather inter-denominational, or and Dr. William Souper, of London; Dr. Campbell Morgan and Dr. William Souper, of London; Dr. Campden Cobern, of Mendville, Pa., Dr. Soll Dickerson and Dr. William Souper, of London; Dr. Campden Cobern, of Mendville, Pa., Dr. Soll Dickerson Conference teacher: Dr. Ressell Convell, of Philadelphia; Dr. George Stuart and others. Each of these men is a brilliant specialist in his line, trained and authoritative. There is no admission charge to the sessions. But it is hoped that voluntary contributions and many put the conference upon a basis of permanency.

Considering that few of these speakers come south save to the conference, and that visitors are in attendance from every southern state, the conference looms large in the secular as well as the religious calendar of Atlanta.

CRITICAL DIPLOMACY.

Not in many years has an American president been called upon to deal with an international situation so critical, baffling and complicated as that which controuts Woodrow Wilson in Mexico. Conditions were sufficiently difficult been only Huserts was a sufficient of the control of the watchful and hopeful eye on the slippery Huerta.

The president's task is an unenviable one. One day it looks as though we are being inexorably driven to intervention. The next the problem becomes less acute. The chief consolation is that Mr. Wilson has manifested a firmness of purpose and a fertility of resource which, together, prom-ise hope of some safe way out of a truly bewildering dilemma.
